INTERNATIONAL PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION REPORT

International application No. PCT/JP00/03944

I. Basis of the report

1. With regard to the elements of the international application (Replacement sheets which have been furnished to the receiving Office in response to an invitation under Article 14 are referred to in this report as "originally filed" and are not annexed to this report since they do not contain amendments (Rules 70.16 and 70.17)):

Description, pages:

1-75 as originally filed

Claims, No.:

1-7 as originally filed

Drawings, sheets:

1-8 as originally filed

Sequence listing part of the description, pages:

1-41, as originally filed

2. With regard to the language, all the elements marked above were available or furnished to this Authority in the language in which the international application was filed, unless otherwise indicated under this item.

These elements were available or furnished to this Authority in the following language: , which is:

- ☐ the language of a translation furnished for the purposes of the international search (under Rule 23.1(b)).
- ☐ the language of publication of the international application (under Rule 48.3(b)).
- ☐ the language of a translation furnished for the purposes of international preliminary examination (under Rule 55.2 and/or 55.3).

3. With regard to any nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence disclosed in the international application, the international preliminary examination was carried out on the basis of the sequence listing:

- ☒ contained in the international application in written form.
- ☐ filed together with the international application in computer readable form.
- ☐ furnished subsequently to this Authority in written form.
- ☐ furnished subsequently to this Authority in computer readable form.
- ☐ The statement that the subsequently furnished written sequence listing does not go beyond the disclosure in the international application as filed has been furnished.
- ☐ The statement that the information recorded in computer readable form is identical to the written sequence listing has been furnished.

4. The amendments have resulted in the cancellation of:

- ☐ the description, pages:
- ☐ the claims, Nos.:
- ☐ the drawings, sheets:

5. ☐ This report has been established as if (some of) the amendments had not been made, since they have been considered to go beyond the disclosure as filed (Rule 70.2(c)):

(Any replacement sheet containing such amendments must be referred to under item 1 and annexed to this report.)

6. Additional observations, if necessary:

III. Non-establishment of opinion with regard to novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability

1. The questions whether the claimed invention appears to be novel, to involve an inventive step (to be non-obvious), or to be industrially applicable have not been examined in respect of:

- ☐ the entire international application.
- ☒ claims Nos. 1-7 partially.

because:

- ☐ the said international application, or the said claims Nos. relate to the following subject matter which does not require an international preliminary examination (specify):
- ☐ the description, claims or drawings (indicate particular elements below) or said claims Nos. are so unclear that no meaningful opinion could be formed (specify):
- ☐ the claims, or said claims Nos. are so inadequately supported by the description that no meaningful opinion could be formed.
- ☒ no international search report has been established for the said claims Nos. 1-7 (partially).

2. A meaningful international preliminary examination cannot be carried out due to the failure of the nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence listing to comply with the standard provided for in Annex C of the Administrative Instructions:

- ☐ the written form has not been furnished or does not comply with the standard.
- ☐ the computer readable form has not been furnished or does not comply with the standard.

V. Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

Re Item V

Reasoned statement under Rule 66.2(a)(ii) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

The International Search Authority informed the applicant of a lack of unity within the present application. As no further additional search fees were paid the search was restricted to the first invention namely SEQ ID 1, 11 and 21. This forms the basis of the present written opinion.

D1 discloses an amino acid sequence which is 99.6% identical to SEQ ID 1 over a 226 amino acid overlap. D2 discloses an EST bearing 99.7% identity to SEQ ID 11 over a 418 base pair overlap. Formally novelty is acknowledged for the claimed sequences. Although, in all probability the discrepancy between the prior art and the claimed sequences may lie in the error prone technique of DNA sequencing, the subject-matter is subjected to an assessment of inventive step.

D3 is considered to be the closest prior art. Therein the authors provide several human proteins having transmembrane domains and DNAs encoding these proteins. The objective problem is defined as the provision of further human proteins bearing hydrophobic domains.

It is common knowledge to the skilled person that the predicted protein sequence of cloned cDNA sequences give a strong indication as to whether a protein is secreted and or possesses a transmembrane domain. Indeed D3 teaches just that. Consequently, no inventive step may be recognised for such subject-matter. Moreover, the provision of antibodies directed against said protein sequences do not require inventive activity. Thus claims 1 to 7 do not meet with the requirements of Article 33 (3) PCT.

Furthermore the provision of naturally occurring sequences possessing hydrophobic domains are not susceptible to industrial application. Thus, claims 1 to 7 do not conform with Article 33 (4) PCT.
